Birds of a feather flock together.

Comment on the proverb above using the following plan:

- explain the proverb
- give one or two example situation(s) for it
- say whether you agree or disagree with it and give reasons why
- draw a conclusion

Write 100 – 140 words.

The proverb means that if you have something in common with somebody, you will often be together. For example, me and my father have a tradition. We go to our favourite ice-hockey team's games. In other words, we both like ice-hockey. Because of that, we often spend time together. I have heard a proverb with the same sense in Russian language: „fishermen sees fishermen from the far“. In short, I agree with this proverb. No matter in which part of planet you live, you always can find somebody to be together.
