The Last Time

Every person in the world might face such a problem, but I am going to tell the story about the plain girl that faced this problem as well. This problem is about the last time. As everyone knows, time is the most valuable thing in our lives.

Sarah was an ordinary girl. She was studying in an ordinary school. She was living in an ordinary family. And everything was ordinary till the moment she realised she must have been someone extraordinary. But it was pretty late.

Since the childhood Sarah has wanted to become an ecologist. She liked such subjects as Biology, Geography and Chemistry. She could stop among the forest, gazing at the trees and their leaves. She loved to observe the trees' bark very carefully. While going through the forest, Sarah was able to say how old this forest is. The nature was her life.

But everything wasn't so happy. As she grew up in the destitute family, she was always told such things: "You'd better not study these subjects, you're not considered to make money with it" or "Should you become an ecologist, you won't find the good job". It had been depressing Sarah until she finally have been abused and confused about her future. She didn't want her parents to worry about her life, so she started learning Maths and Physics.

Then Sarah has graduated from the physics university and become an engineer. She didn't like her job. But everybody would say that she made a lot of money with it. Actually, it didn't please Sarah.

The time was passing by. And one evening Sarah found the biology students' book and remembered how she wanted to become an ecologist. She cut off with Physics and spent all her saved money for she studying in the ecology university.

She's done it well. Then she started to work in a laboratory. She was thrilled by what she was doing. She loved it.

Soon in the evening she was sitting in her ~~spa~~ armchair and thinking about her life. She was really sorry that she's broken down with ~~the~~ ~~opar~~ her parents' opinion and become a person, she didn't want to become. She realised that, if she didn't listen to her parents she'd ~~be~~ learn more about ecology and wouldn't lose her time, doing the Physics.

Well, the lost time was the biggest thing Sarah has ever lost.
